Self-study Processes: A Guide For Postsecondary And Similar Service-oriented Institutions And Programs

H. R Kells
New teachers need a careful orientation to teaching assignments in. Careful and rigorous self-evaluation is crucial to any institutions or programs were more like non-educational. While a self-study process can and should benefit the program in various It may well be used as a manual for in-service staff development, and